

I have the right not to be bothered by salespeople or any other type of vendor in my home if I choose. You have no right to allow them to let them do so, and you have no right to make me spend my hard earned income to purchase electronic equipment to block them from calling.